A NEW CONCEPT IN FAIR COMPETITION

Time and again it has been attempted to successfully apply the principle of communism (not a capital C) to the economic life of a nation or a people. But, obviously, human nature isn't adaptable to the process involved.

Primitive American society tried out a plan by which the people were to have their economic living in common, but it didn't work. The "good" points of the system were abused by some, who took advantage of eating out of the common granary. The early Christian church started a plan for pooling individual resources. It didn't work out satisfactorily and was abandoned.

The holy scriptures reveal the fact that personal property rights are inherent and inviolable. Paying one's own way is the old and honored American custom. Americans have long taken justifiable pride in it.

The time honored American rule means, simply, that one pays for what one gets and gets what he pays for, regardless of the type of merchandise traded for. On a reasonable basis, it is expected to pay the cost of the service or the commodity provided, plus a profit to the provider. If it needed or wanted its bought by him who needs it and makes use of it.

This fundamental principle governs the vast majority of all commercial transactions. Or it is at least supposed to. But in the drift toward socialism in recent years, however, many people don't seem to realize it. It comes about through the new (for this country) conception of the federal government setting up shop in commercial enterprises.

Just for one example, take the parcel post service, which is subsidized by the federal government through the Post Office Department. As a purely commercial enterprise, it is directly competitive with private, taxpaying carriers of parcels and small freight shipments such as the agency carts to include in its scope of services.

The rub (on the taxpayers) comes from the fact that the patrons do not pay the whole bill. Result is that the service has been operated at a deficit ever since it was started back in 1913. And in the last analysis, all the taxpayers must bear a part of the cost of operating the service, even though many never use it. We have no interest in not hold no brief for any private express company, but why should they be picked on, as it were, as legitimate commercial operators?

And we don't mean by any means that the government should extend its competitive operations to other commercial lines of business, realizing that the latter it tried to do in that direction, and it would get—for the tax-payer's public. The American government isn't supposed to supply services where they can be generally supplied through private enterprise. But if it does it should at least, in all fairness, charge at such rates that will cover the cost.

AN APPEAL FOR CLEANER HIGHWAYS

Jefferson County has an excellent system of roadways and public thoroughfare. One can drive in any direction over a smoothly paved surface and amid scenery, in nearly every instance, pleasant to the eyes and refreshing to the motorist.

Occasionally the highway vistas are marred by accidents as motorists meet tragedy in the way. Again, and more often, domestic animals, as well as specimens of wildlife, tangle with the traffic and are unable to make it to roadside safety. Consequently the highways become marred with the presence of mangled carcasses. These unsightly and unsanitary blotches obstructing and polluting the public roads are an abomination to the traveling public and a disgrace to the community. It is the responsibility of the state to remain, as they often do until they are completely disintegrated and eliminated by the moving traffic.

But who is responsible? That would seem to be a good question. Frankly, we do not know. Maybe it just rests with the conscience and sense of public pride on the part of any and all who pass along and see it, and, as is often the case, smell it, and are responsible for cleaning it up. It is not pass by on the other side. But we do feel that, in the interest of well kept highways, the responsibility should be definitely fixed and an applicable rule enforced.

Who has a suggestion?

HE'S RIGHT "THERE MUST BE A CHANGE"

We believe that the people of this Fifth District will appreciate the attitude of Congressman John M. Robison, Jr., toward government spending, as expressed on television last Sunday afternoon. He said definitely that he is for curtailing federal government expenditures along certain lines where the services to be provided are not essential.

Some Congressmen are actually speaking up in favor of cutting the national budget, and like Representative Robison, are willing to vote as they talk. But far too many, who lean to the left, are always eager to promise more and vote more funds for spending. While the people, too, are often to blame in asking for more.

However, there does seem to be now a stronger public sentiment in actual fact of Congress stopping its spending spree. Said Representative Byrnes of Wisconsin recently: "I think there is always the hope that when people start to understand—and the people must be made to understand—where there are there will be a change in the attitude. There must be a change."

David Lawrence writes, in U. S. News & World Report: "The truth is that, because of industry-wide bargaining and the tremendous power wielded by national labor unions, a battle is being waged between Big Unionism and Big Business that concerns the future of our whole economy—from automobiles to kitchens. The public is the innocent bystander. The people as a whole suffer because the Congress hasn't the courage to tackle Big Unionism."

OUR INTERNAL SECURITY WARECKED

When Senator James A. Eastland recently made the charge on the United States Senate floor that the Supreme Court, in a long series of decisions, had wrecked this nation's internal defense against Communist subversion, he backed up his declaration with a number of key decisions handed down by the so-called "Warren Court." Actually there are more than 20 decisions that have greatly aided the Communist international conspiracy within our nation and weakened our internal defense.

Herbert Philbrick, who worked for the F.B.I. as a counterparty in the deep Communist underground, gave me a list of 17 decisions which he considers to have been the most damaging in bringing out these decisions the "Warren Court" many times has interpreted legislative law to mean the Supreme Court never intended it to mean. The Supreme Court decision is a case that the Supreme Court, a Communist convicted of sedition by Pennsylvania courts. It declared that this right to prosecute an alleged subversive was not a state's right but was reserved to the Federal Government.

Key Decisions
The House of Representatives now has voted overwhelmingly to re-establish this principle of state's rights which the Supreme Court has killed. The legislation originated in the House, it still must pass the Senate and must be signed by the President to become a law. Meanwhile, the Supreme Court has asked Congress to enact legislation to re-establish laws vital to our security which the Court has nullified.

Here are some of the key decisions which have aided the Communist cause:
1. Peters v. Hobby. Dr. John P. Peters had a long pro-Communist record. After an investigation the Senate Review Board of the Government fired him from his government job. The Supreme Court has ruled in favor of him to do this—and thus broke down the security machinery.

2. Shochack v. Board of Higher Education (N.Y.). A man identified as a Communist was fired from his teaching job. The Supreme Court made the Board responsible to pay him $40,000 back salary.

3. Young, American Communist in Government service put back to work. This decision is a direct challenge to the loyalty of the American citizen. The Supreme Court could not be fired from Government service unless he was in a position of trust. The Communist Party v. Subversive Activities Control Board. The Board had directed the Communist Party to register with the Attorney General as required by the Subversive Control Act of 1950. The Supreme Court ruled in favor of the Party and has not registered Gold v. U.S. A labor leader convicted of perjury (who lied when he took the non-Communist oath) was freed by the Court.

4. Jencks v. U.S. Another alleged Communist was freed of filing false non-Communist affidavits. This decision is a direct challenge to the loyalty of the American citizen. The Supreme Court could not be fired from Government service unless he was in a position of trust. The Communist Party v. Subversive Activities Control Board. 5. Communist Lawyer OK'd
Katie G. St. Louis, a Communist identified as a Communist (see Fifth Amendment) was freed by the Court. This decision is a direct challenge to the loyalty of the American citizen. ## Camp Taylor News

By Mrs. James Shaw

BROWN-DAVIDSON

The wedding of Miss Doris Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, and Mr. Paul Davidson, son of R. S. Davidson, was solemnized Friday night at the sanctuary of St. Luke's Methodist Church by the Rev. William E. Morris, minister of the church. Shaw were witnesses. A family reception in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Grether followed.

A large box has been placed in St. Luke's Methodist Church for anyone interested to place cash, goods, clothing, staple goods, soap, coupons and any household item to be given to Wesley House. They will also accept cash. If you have some good used living room furniture, call Junior 3-8317, Thatt's Wesley House.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Dolson and Wynne made a trip through several states, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, South Dakota, Wyoming, Nebraska and Missouri. They were visiting Yellowstone, and saw the Black Hills and Badlands.

Members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Audubon Park Methodist Church will attend an all day session at St. Luke's Methodist Church Tuesday night. It will be followed by a luncheon at St. Luke's with other churches in the district.

A large group of Methodist Youth Fellowship boys and girls attended a spiritual retreat at Owensboro Saturday, September 6. Thanks to the adults who drove their cars and enjoyed the day with them. Boxed chicken lunches were prepared by Kentucky Wesleyan College.

The W.M.U. week of prayer for state missions was held in the home of the members of the East Audubon Baptist Church Tuesday night. Mrs. Ray Wallace is helping Mrs. Vernon Woodman with her duties. Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Gaddie, Fair and saw many of you from Camp Taylor there and also those of the children. Mrs. H. P. Gaddie, Bruce and Norman of Fincastle, vacationed in Miami, Fla. at the Sea Bank Hotel. Had a lovely time.

Mr. and Mrs. George Swenck, Sharon, Freddie and Kathy have been in Louisville since 1957. They are now in Richmond, Va. The St. Luke's Methodist Church choir sang "How Great Thou Art" for them Tuesday morning. Mrs. Swenck left. We hope they will love it there.

Earl S. Miller suffered a fatal heart attack at the 15th fairway at the Audubon Country Club. Artificial respiration and oxygen administered by the County Police failed to revive Mr. Miller. He and his wife had been weeks of guests of Mr. Fred Brown at the home of Mr. Miller.

Artie Hiemer, caddy, was with Mr. Hartman, Mr. Miller and two other men when the victim was stricken.

This issue of the paper marks one year of writing Camp Taylor news. I have been writing for one year and sending papers to your home. And I pray that I may make it more interesting to you as time goes by and that I may make many more friends and please Jesus in this work. If you have any call me. I love to hear from you.

State Farm Bureau Gets New Assistant Information Director
Paul Everman, formerly of Sharpburg, Ky., has been appointed as assistant information director for the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation.

A graduate in agricultural economics from the University of Kentucky, Everman has worked for several years as a professional radio director and radio announcer. His background includes two years in the Army.

During his high school days at Owensboro High School, he was active in F.F.A., including service as president of his local chapter and as a member of the National Gold Emblem as well. Both he and his parents have long been active members of Farm Bureau in both county and state.

Mr. Everman is a member of the board of directors of the Bath County Farm Bureau and is a member of the Owensboro Christian Church. While a student in the College of Agriculture in Lexington, Everman was a recipient of the Jones Scholarship for agricultural studies, and of the WLAP Scholarship for research in agricultural communications.

In his new capacity with the State Farm Bureau in Louisville, Everman will be in charge of a twice weekly radio program service to more than 40 radio stations in Kentucky, as well as assisting in the preparation of a permanent editor and advertising manager of the Kentucky Farm Bureau.

He was previously active in the carrying out of a radio program for the State Farm Bureau in information and public relations designed to keep members and the general public informed of the organization's policies and activities.

40 AND 10 YEARS AGO

LOOKING BACK THROUGH THE JEFFERSONIAN FILES

Forest D. Williams, son of Mrs. Byron Williams, Fern Cliff, near Crest, left for Centre College, Danville, where he was to take a students' Army training course.

Charles C. Wheeler, prominent Jefferson County auctioneer and Democratic leader, left for Washington, D.C., to be private secretary to Congressman Swager Sherley. Mrs. Wheeler and their daughter, Mrs. Mary Virginia Wheeler, was new teacher at Seatonville.

The stock paid a visit to the Seatonville area and left daughters at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Pound and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Shaker. They were met by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Stout.

A farewell party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. J. in honor of their son, Howard J., who was to sail October 8 for a missionary assignment in the Philippines. The party was given by members of the Jeffersontown Methodist Church who presented the missionary with an appropriate gift—a traveling bag.

The Jeffersontown baseball team dropped a 7-3 decision to the Middleboro nine for the championship in the Kentucky Amateur Baseball tournament at Jeffersontown, managed by Jim Eddleman, had defeated Barlowville 4-2 to enter the finals.

Mrs. Currier Wins TB Contest 2nd Time

For the second consecutive year a Louisville housewife is first prize winner in the Christmas Seal design contest.

Mrs. Lionel Currier, 803 South Western Parkway was awarded $25 in the local contest sponsored by the Louisville Tuberculosis Association.

The $15 second award went to Miss Shirley Gill Pettit, 9 East-over Court, a mathematics teacher at Albertson High School. Tony Oost, 3520 Kyocline, who came in second last year, won the $10 third prize. Oswald is a draftsman at Girdler Corporation.

The winning sketches and all entries will be on display next week in the window of a downtown Louisville department store. At the end of this month they will be sent to the National Tuberculosis Association for competition in the $500 national contest.

Judges of the Jefferson County entries were artists, Mrs. Margaret Edgar, Robert Wathen and Edgar Carter.

Eastern, Waggoner, Trinity Win Openers; Valley Loses 21-19

Three Jefferson County football events, one of which is playing varsity ball for the first time this season, chalked up victories in initial contests last weekend.

They are Eastern, Trinity and Waggoner. Valley lost a heart breaker to New Albany 21-19.

In its first encounter as a varsity team, Waggoner scored two touchdowns in the third frame to overpower Standard 12-0. Bobby Sexton scored both times on runs of 18 and nine yards. Terry Wood raced 78 yards for a third 14, in the same period, but an offside penalty against Waggoner nullified it. Stanford made no serious threats against Coach Dave Aaby's Wildcats.

Eastern's initial effort resulted in a 16-0 rout over the Shawnee Indians. The Eagles scored in each period. One touchdown and a conversion was marked up in the first, two and one conversion in the second, two and the same number of conversions in the third and a safety in the fourth.

Three of the Eagles' touchdowns were made by Wes Worley. They were made on one-yard plays and a 14-yard pithout and a 27-yard end run. The other touchdowns were made by Stan Puryear on a one-yard drive and Jerry Wilson following a 42-yard aerial from Don Walker.

Inability of Valley to convert resulted in the two-point deficit. The Vikings and New Albany scored three touchdowns each, one coming in the first, one second and two of the valleys for each team. Two of Valley's touchdowns were on 11 and 10-yard runs by Joe Druga. The other resulted from a 14-yard run by Kenny Baker.

Defensive making its debut, lost to Providence 32-0. Providence scored two touchdowns in each of the second and third frames and one in the fourth.

Durrett opens its first varsity season at 8 p.m. Thursday on the home grounds with Oldham County providing the opposition. Waggoner meets Providence at the same hour at Eastern.

Friday's schedule includes Southern at Butler, 1:30 p.m.; Bardotown at Fern Creek, 8 p.m.; Trinity at Male, 8 p.m.; and Albion at Eastern, 8 p.m.

Valley Teacher Drowns While On Fishing Trip

Taylor J. Jarvis, 58-year-old mathematics teacher at Valley High School, drowned about 7 p.m. Saturday when a boat was carried over a spillway at Dam 43 in the Ohio River near West Point.

Jarvis had been on a fishing trip with several of his students. He was a teacher of civics and advanced science at Valley. The two men and left World's riverside home, off Dixie Highway two miles north of West Point, to fish.

They had beached World's 14-foot outboard motorboat and had fished all afternoon from a concrete wall that extends 200 feet from the Kentucky side.

Word reported the starting cord stuck as the men completed their fishing. Jarvis was paddling the craft upstream. However, they did not notice that the boat was drifting toward the spillway.

When their danger was ascertained Word tossed a life preserver to Jarvis, who could not swim, and told him to hold onto the boat. At that moment the boat went over and Jarvis disappeared.

Word swam 200 feet to the Kentucky shore and fell exhausted. Efforts to locate the victim's body had been unsuccessful up until Tuesday night.

Jarvis taught in Knox and Bell County 40 years before coming to Valley four years ago. He was superintendent of Lynn Camp High School, Knox County 26 years and was active in church, civic and charitable organizations.

At Valley Jarvis was head of the Checker Club and was prominent in promoting student recreational activities. He was a member of the Walnut Street Baptist Church.

His wife, Mrs. Arsh Dinmore, is a sixth grade teacher at Gilmore Lane Elementary School, and their son, Bob Jarvis, teaches art and English at Southern High School.

Other survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Jarvis, Bardoniaire; four brothers and a sister, all now residents of Kentucky.

Filly Really Needed In Heaven, Boy 4, Muses

Add sound reasoning department of the small fry set.

One of the latest is from the Union County Advocate, Morgantown, Ky., submitted to the Jeffersonian by W. E. Bingham, 3501 Maple Road, Jeffersontown. It concerns the musings of Tom Hancock, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Hancock.

When a 1-year-old Buckskin filly of the Hancock's ran into a cultivator and mangled its body so badly that it had to be destroyed, Mr. and Mrs. Hancock began thinking up a story to offer Tom for its disappearance. Finally they told to boy that God needed the animal in Heaven.

It was some time later that Tom was looking at a Biblical picture of Jesus riding a donkey into Jerusalem.

"Now I see why God wanted our filly," Tom remarked. "I guess He got tired of riding that junkies."
